About the Authors

Dr. Cheah Foo Seong MBA(Henley), LLM (Staffordshire) and LLD (AHU, US), lectures at UTAR in corporate governance and taught Company Law and Practices at the Multimedia University, Cyberjaya.

Lee Leok Soon head of Client Services Division MSWG, a shareholder activist organisation in Malaysia. He writes articles on corporate governance, best practices and shareholder activism to professional journals, business magazines and newspapers.

Corporate Governance principles and best practices have been around since the Cadbury Report was first introduced in Britain in 1992. Since then we have seen an exponential growth in corporate governance codes being developed globally. The Corporate Governance subject is now being taught in many institutions of higher learning, and in particular, both in private and public universities in Malaysia. This book on the principles and practices of corporate governance in Malaysia is an attempt to introduce Malaysia perspectives in the practices among the corporate participants. It illustrates the historical development of corporate governance, discusses the pillars of good corporate governance and the mechanisms of corporate principles and best practices in Malaysia. Corporate governance practices in Malaysia is partially regulated by Bursa Malaysia's listing requirements for public listed companies, and strongly influenced by shareholder's activism in the form of the Minority Shareholder Watchdog Group (MSWG). Shareholders' activism is also explained in the book.

The book will be a useful resource to undergraduate and graduate students in their study of Corporate Governance.
